Myeongdong street food

Myeongdong is not only Seoul's shopping mecca, it is also a street food paradise for food lovers. The pedestrian-friendly streets are lined with rows of fabulous Korean street food. You may need a few visits (and cash only) to try out most of the popular street food at Myeongdong. Every visit to Myeongdong is often with much anticipation and excitement to check out your favourite food stalls, new stalls that may have sprung out since your last visit and seasonal food stalls like roasted sweet potatoes and pumpkin soup available only during winter. Traditional Korean street food includes tteokbokki, chicken skewers and Korean hotteok.

Cheonggyecheon Bamdokkaebi Night Market

The metropolitan city Seoul presents Seoul Bamdokkaebi Night Market for your fun evening out (except when freezing Korean winters have their time). With its huge success year by year since 2015, Seoul Bamdokkaebi Night Market has become a go-to place to relish the evening breeze and some new trends. It's impossible to imagine Seoul Bamdokkaebi Night Market without a dazzling array of food trucks! Some menus may overlap between a couple of trucks, but mostly they serve various international foods to try. Choose your pick as your stomach tells you! Cash and card both are accepted for payment.

Seoul N Tower (Cable)

Namsan Seoul Tower was the first multipurpose tower to be established in Korea, effectively incorporating a sightseeing observatory to a broadcasting tower. For the past 40 years, Namsan Seoul Tower has served as an iconic landmark of Korea and a representative tourist attraction. The tower's observatory offers an unobstructed view of the whole city, allowing it to become one of the all-time favorite attractions of Seoul citizens as well as domestic and international tourists.

Meeting Point

Bukchon Hanok Village

Surrounded by Gyeongbokgung Palace, Changdeokgung Palace and Jongmyo Shrine, Bukchon Hanok Village is home to hundreds of traditional houses, called hanok, that date back to the Joseon dynasty. The name Bukchon, which literally translates to "northern village," came about as the neighborhood lies north of two significant Seoul landmarks, Cheonggyecheon Stream and Jongno. Today, many of these hanoks operate as cultural centers, guesthouses, restaurants and tea houses, providing visitors with an opportunity to experience, learn and immerse themselves in traditional Korean culture.

Seal Making Experience

Seal Making Experience

The name seal or stamp is called a Dojang. A dojang is a stamp made from stone, wood, ivory or precious metals that displays the signature of the owner. Nowadays, you're most likely to only see ones made from rock. Experience the traditional culture of Korea by engraving your own stone stamp (seal engraving). Create your own Korean-style stamp that can be used in real life! It will be an unforgettable experience.

Insadong

Insadong

Insadong, located in the heart of the city, is an important place where old but precious traditional goods are on display. There is one main road in Insadong with alleys on each side. Within these alleys are galleries, traditional restaurants, teahouses, and cafes. The galleries are the heartbeat of Insadong. There are about 100 galleries in the area offering every example of traditional Korean fine art from paintings to sculptures. The most famous galleries are Hakgojae Gallery, which functions as the center of folk art, Gana Art Gallery, which promotes many promising artists, and Gana Art Center.

Mt. Bukhansan National Park

National parks are very rarely within a city, and yet Bukhansan Mountain in Seoul was designated as the 15th national park of Korea in 1983. The national park is like an ecological island because it's totally surrounded by urban areas. It's a popular natural park for over 20 million residents within the vicinity. There are also many historical and cultural sites including Bukhansanseong Fortress with over 2,000 years of history, over 100 Buddhist temples and monk's cells. This hiking route starts at Bamgol park ranger post. You will climb the Bagundae peak through the hidden wall ridge, then walk down the trail that leads you to Bukhansan mountain fortress wall and over at the Bukhansansung park ranger post.

Pajeon and Makgeolli

Pajeon is a savoury pancake made with scallions added to a rice flour batter and then fried in a pan. It can be eaten with just vegetables as the main ingredient, but popular varieties include kimchi jeon (with kimchi added to make it a little spicy) and haemulpajeon (with assorted seafood, like squid). Makgeolli is a rice alcohol, often called rice wine (even though it looks very different from Western style wine). It's thick and white in colour, often with some material from the rice left over. It is much sweeter than wine or other alcohol like beer, and . While makgeolli has a long history in Korea, these days is it available in many different flavours, including classic local ones like chestnut or yuja, and newer, more unique ones like cheese or peach. In Korea, there is a culture of eating makgeolli and pajeon after hiking to celebrate the end of the hike!

Chicken & Beer

There's something about drinking beer and eating fried food that really hits the spot. And in South Korea, beer and fried chicken go so well together that this combo has developed into a national favorite with its own name: chimaek (치맥). The word chimaek is the result of combining CHiKin (chicken) and MAEKju (Korean for beer). While the consumption of the two has been around for decades, the term's popularity soared during the 2010 World Cup when fans would enjoy chimaek as they watched games.

Suwon Fortress (World Heritage)

Suwon was one of four main regional government centers during the Joseon dynasty. Hwaseong Fortress, built to protect the city, was designated as a UNESCO World Cultural Heritage Site on December 12, 1997 for its historical value. The fortress offers various performances daily as well as the Suwon Hwaseong Cultural Festival every fall. The walls stretch for 5,700 kilometers, with Paldalsan Mountain at the center. The fortress, constructed from 1794 to 1796, was built as a display of King Jeongjo's filial piety towards his father and to build a new pioneer city with its own economic power.

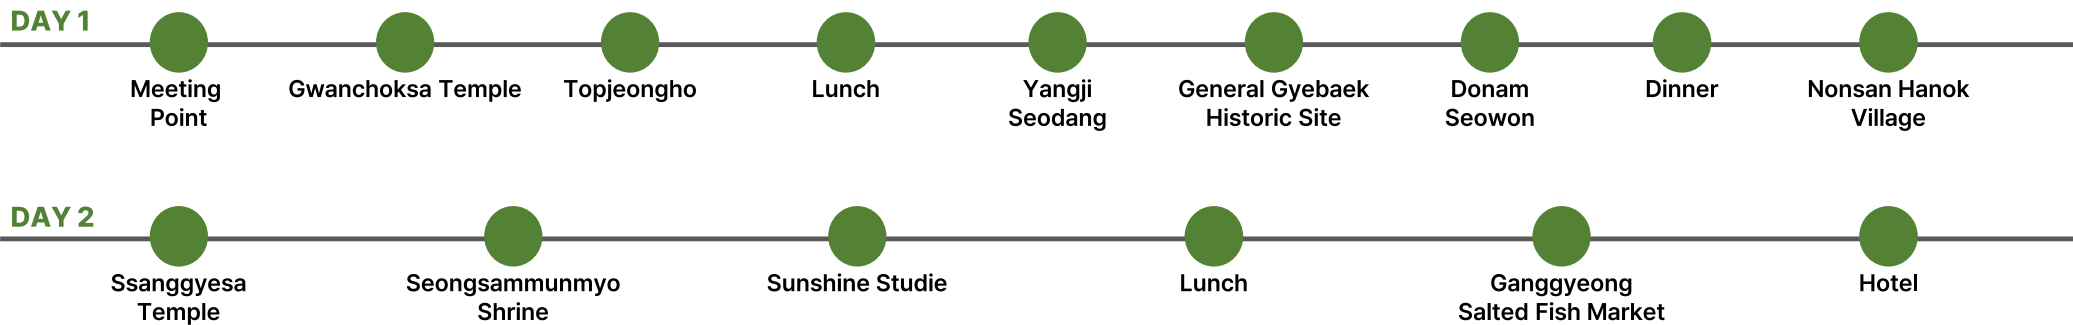

Korean Folk Village

Korean Folk Village introduces traditional culture from the late Joseon period to both local and international visitors through cultural classes experience, shaman faith, seasonal customs and others. It recreated the past through the restoration of houses from the Joseon dynasty. Performances including nongak (farmer's music), martial arts on horseback, traditional wedding ceremony, and other special events are available by season. In particular, "Welcome to Joseon," an event held every May, takes visitors back to the past. In addition, a family-friendly theme park equipped with 15 exciting attractions is also available. Visitors can also try various Korean foods at the market street.

Imjingak Park

You can look at meaningful facilities related to the Korean War, such as the Freedom Bridge restored to exchange prisoners during the Korean War, the Gyeongui Line steam locomotive that was shot by 1,020 bullets and left in the DMZ, and the Unification Pond modeled after the Korean Peninsula.

DMZ Theater & Exhibition hall

DMZ Theater & Exhibition Hall is a place where you can watch a video which explains about the 3rd tunnel and other tunnels as well as history of the division of Korea.

The 3rd Infiltration Tunnel

The highlight of the DMZ tour is to explore a tunnel dug by North Korea. Since 1974, South Army has discovered four tunnels crossing the MDL. The tunnels are believed to have been planned as a military invasion or infiltration route.

Dora Observatory

Dora Observatory, or OP Dora is the closest observation post to North Korea. From the observation platform, North Korean scenery is visible, and so are the outskirts of Gaeseong City, the 3rd largest city of North Korea.
